MISERY IN MINNESOTA.

Heavy Snows and Floods in the Dakotas.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES UNDER WATER

Naval Parade in New York Reviewed in the Rain.

ST. PAUL, April 27.—The farmers of Minnesota and the Dakotas are pretty nearly discouraged over the outlook for crops. Not an acre of grain is sown in North Dakota or any point in Minnesota, north of St. Cloud, and there is no prospect of any being sown in the next ten days. It began snowing Wednesday and an average of eighteen inches fell in twenty-four hours. Since that date it has rained almost continually, and yesterday morning it again began snowing, and fell steady all day, all the way west from St. Paul to Dickinson, North Dakota. In Northern Minnesota, around Crookston, Fisher, and many other Red River points, thousands of acres have been converted into lakes by overflowing streams, and all talk of putting in crops is out of the question.

The Naval Parade.
NEW YORK, April 27.—A heavy rain storm ushered in the day of the great naval parade and exercises were postponed till 1 o'clock this afternoon. Promptly at 1 o'clock President Cleveland and party left the Victoria hotel, drove to the dock, and embarked on the steamer Dolphin and steamed away to review the squadron in spite of still unfavorable weather. The city which was gaily decked with bunting presents a sorry appearance.

The quaintest part of the day's proceedings was that the post of honor at the head of the reviewed vessels was occupied by Columbus caravels. These pigmy boats anchored opposite 93rd street, formed practically the turning point of the review.

The line of vessels reviewed was over three miles in length, stretching in two columns from 23rd street to 95th.

The president was escorted to the Dolphin by the naval aides, accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and members of the cabinet and their wives.

The duke of Varagua, the nation's especially invited guest, a lineal descendant of Columbus, followed the Dolphin in the army boat General Melggs, and members of the diplomatic corps occupied the coast survey steamer Blake.

About two o'clock the signal was given for the start, and as soon as the president stepped on board the Dolphin she tripped anchor, fired one gun as a signal. This was responded to by a boom which seemed to shake the whole city. The double turreted monitor Miantonomah, lying at the rear of the port column, fired one of her new ten inch guns, charged with nearly two hundred and fifty pounds of powder, at once the whole fleet called to quarters, with yards manned. The scene was as pretty as well could be imagined. As the Dolphin's bow came in line with each man of war, present arms was sounded on the bugles, officers and crew saluted, bands struck up national airs, and a national salute of 21 guns was fired by each ship. During the half hour more while the presidential progress lasted cannonading never ceased until more than 1600 guns were fired.

Toward the close one terrific roar with flashes of red flame and dense sulphurous smoke was all the spectators on shore could distinguish. When the Dolphin reached the end of the line at 95th street she dropped anchor, made preparations to receive the commanding officers of the foreign squadrons, who were presented to the president by their respective ministers, officers and attaches in full ceremonial uniform.

This ceremony closed the public ceremonies of the day.

Already Pardoned.
OREGON CITY, April 27.—C. W. Stricklin, who was last week sentenced to the penitentiary two years for the crime of forgery, has already been pardoned. At least, his mother says she saw the governor and presented to him the petition for pardon, and the governor said he would grant it. The petition was signed by the judge, the prosecuting attorney, all the members of the grand jury which found the indictment, S. M. Tracy whose name was forged, and the Latourrettes who bought the $50 note with the forged indorsement. The pardon is expected in this afternoon's mail, and the young man will regain his liberty upon its arrival, after a very tight squeeze.

THE OKLAHOMA CYCLONE.

Details of Losses to Lives and Property.

OKLAHOMA, April 27.—The names of the victims of yesterday's cyclone as far as known are: Rev. J. M. Corn, Mr. and Mrs. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Banks, Miss Ellis, Jerry and Frank Banks, John B. O'Connor, wife and two sons and three daughters, and a family named Johnson, consisting of five persons.

The brunt of the storm was laid upon the prosperous little town of Norman, on the Santa Fe railroad twenty miles south. At that point, thirty-one people were killed, a dozen injured and the town almost completely destroyed. The people are terrorized and cannot give any estimate of the loss and know nothing except to care for the dead and injured. Further on, the towns of Downs and Keokuk Falls were nearly devastated and scores of people were injured fatally and otherwise.

Passing along for eight miles, it struck the town of Norman, where the damage was repeated, and then on to Downs and Keokuk Falls through Pottawatomie county, where thousands of dollars worth of property was demolished. The house of O'Connor, near Moore, was destroyed and O'Connor and his wife and three children and five neighbors, who sought shelter in the building were crushed to death. A frame house of John Banks was torn to pieces and he was killed, while others of the family were badly injured, three of the children and Mrs. Banks, fatally. The home of Henry Dyer was demolished. West of Norman, eight houses were demolished and five people were badly hurt. East of the stricken town two men and two women were killed.

ATTEMPT TO SHOOT GLADSTONE.

Midnight Assassin Who is Afterwards Arrested.

The English Premier Believed to Be in Great Danger by His Friends Over the Water.

LONDON, April 27.—The Pall Mall Gazette contains a sensational article, under big head lines declaring that an attempt was made to shoot Gladstone at midnight last night as he was walking through St. James' park, on his way home. Gladstone saw nothing of the occurrence. The man under arrest is named William Townsend, 38 years old. The officer who arrested him saw him mount the steps of Gladstone's residence, shortly after Gladstone entered, when a policeman ordered him to descend he fired at him and desperately resisted arrest. Townsend says the discharge of the revolver was accidental.

IN IMMINENT DANGER.

The prisoner's note book contained a mass of ravings against Irish home rule and the suggestion that to murder Gladstone would be justifiable. Notwithstanding the statements that Gladstone is in no danger of being shot and that no importance is attached to the affair, there is a growing suspicion that Gladstone is nearer imminent danger than his friends will admit.

Disabled Steamer.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—The steamer Signa, several days overdue from Chatham bay, arrived safely in the harbor in tow of the tug Relief. On the 18th inst., while the steamer was off the Umpqua river, a crankpin broke and the rest of the voyage had to be made under sail. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Relief picked up the disabled vessel. Captain Bendegard reported every one on board well.

A Bank Closes.

LANSING, Mich., April 27.—The Inglish County Savings Bank closed its doors this morning and is in the hands of the commissioner of banking. Little is known of the cause, as the bank officers are very reticent. It is said to have been caused by the failure of the Peninsular Savings bank of Detroit, to furnish enough currency to do business. The situation is extremely critical.

Storm in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 27.—Information is just received that the tornado swept portions of northern and northwestern Indiana last night. The damage amounts to many thousands of dollars.

OREGON NEWS AND CASUALTIES

Steamboating on the Upper Willamette.

HILLSBORO, April 27.—News reached here that Enoch Armstrong, a farmer, aged 60 years, had committed suicide at Mountandale, by hanging himself in his barn.

Dr. Wood, the coroner, was promptly notified of the matter, and accompanied by Dr. Tamias, left Hillsboro soon after for the scene of the tragedy. On reaching Armstrong's home it was found that the old man had gone about the task of shuffling off the coil of mortality in a very deliberate and systematic manner. He had slipped a noose over his head and fastened the other end of the rope to one of the rafters and then proceeded to suspend himself. When discovered life was extinct, but death had resulted from strangulation, as the rope was long enough to permit the toes of Armstrong to just touch the barn floor. The body was discovered soon after the deed was committed.

Embezzler Arrested.

PORTLAND, April 27.—Yesterday Detective Sam Simmons arrested in St. Louis, Mo., John H. Haekins, formerly manager of the Benton County Flouring Mill company's agency in this city, who left the employ of that company and this country last July, and who is charged with embezzling about $2500 from his employers at different times while acting as their manager in this city.

Detective Simmons left Portland for St. Louis last Thursday evening with regulation papers for his return. As Haekins was not yet under arrest in St. Louis, the fact of the detective's going East was not published at the time, as the fugitive was known to be in correspondence with parties here who would have telegraphed him had the matter become generally known.

Thrown From a Horse.

MARION, Or., April 27.—R. H. Rutherford was thrown from a horse yesterday about 1 p. m. and quite seriously hurt in the small of his back. Dr. Hawk of Jefferson was called and he says that he does not consider him dangerously hurt. The horse he was riding was a two year old colt. The horse reared and threw Mr. Rutherford backward.

A Roalyn Robber.

BAKER CITY, April 28.—The Morning Democrat published a letter from Bill McCarty, one of the alleged Roalyn bank robbers. Bill states that neither he nor his brother George, the latter now on trial at Ellensburg, Wash., had anything to do with the robbery. He says that he left with his brother Tom, to save money he would have to put up to clear himself. The fugitive states that he sold a horse to Tom, which was afterwards stolen and used in the Roalyn robbery. He says they have had a very pleasant trip, and are meeting friends everywhere they go. The envelope bears the Pocatello postmark.

Corvallis to Eugene.

EDGENE, April 27.—The Oregon Pacific company's steamer arrived here last evening. The steamer made the trip from Harrisburg in six hours, and the captain says he experienced no difficulty whatever. There are quite a number of snags in the river and two bars of some consequence, but a little work on the part of the snagboat will remedy this. The captain says the river is now in better condition from Harrisburg to Eugene than it was from Corvallis to Harrisburg before any work was done by the snagboat.

Branch University.

ASHLAND, April 27.—The people of Ashland through five of their representatives entered into an agreement with the trustees of the Portland university through its president, Dr. Stratton, whereby the latter university is to establish a branch of the Portland university at Ashland and erect buildings for the school, at a cost of $20,000, providing Ashland raises a subsidy of $12,000. The citizens of Ashland are given until July 1st to subscribe to the subsidy.

Lost at Sea.

MARSHFIELD, Or., April 27.—Oscar Thacker and Otto Sparks, two young men of this place, went out over the bar last Saturday, and when last seen were trying to make the fishing grounds but were driven to the north by a heavy gale. They were in an open boat twenty-six feet long and schooner rigged, but they knew nothing about handling the boat and it is expected they will never be heard from.

THE OGDEN PEOPLES CONGRESS

Favors Free Coinage of Both Gold and Silver.

OGDEN, April 27.—The trans-Mississippi congress passed the following resolution: "Resolved, That the speedy construction of the Nicaragua canal is most important to the maritime, commercial, industrial and political interests of this country and that every reasonable endeavor should be made by the United States to obtain from Nicaragua an absolute title to sufficient territory to construct such canal, the same to be constructed and owned by the United States."

The following resolutions on silver coinage were introduced: "Resolved, That we demand that the congress of the United States immediately re-open the mints of our country to the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold on equal terms at the present ratio of sixteen to one, and that the government use the coin of both metals without discrimination."

"Resolved, That we are unalterably opposed to the repeal of what is known as the Sherman silver purchasing act, until it is placed with a law providing for such free and unlimited coinage."

G. O. Holman, of Oregon, in his remarks on silver, turned on the Democrats and Republicans alike for inconsistency. He referred especially to an orator who had been sent into Oregon to work for Cleveland. When he got through, Oregon gave 12,000 instead of 3000 Republican majority. "I suppose I am the speaker referred to. I was not sent into Oregon. I went of my own accord, and paid my own expenses, but I must say that I do not overestimate the intelligence of the people of Oregon." (Applause.)

Holman said "his efforts were not in vain. He converted me (applause) but I do not represent the average intelligence of Oregon (applause). We called the 'wild and woolly West.' We are wild, because we know no master. We are woolly, because our hearts are warmed on this subject. We will win yet."

The Day's Session.

OGDEN, April 27.—On the re-opening of the trans-Mississippi congress this morning a vote was taken on the free coinage of silver resolution. The resolution was passed unanimously. The anti-silver men afterwards secured a reconsideration.
